COVERS RICHEST GOLD AREA IN CALIFORNIA

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Come war, or, come national elections, the market for gold remains unchanged. Stocks, industrial, utility and mining, will go up or down depending somewhat upon the day's grist of news, but Uncle Sam has become the largest "consumer"—and hoarder of gold on this planet. It is 20 billions now stored mostly in Fort Knox, with a few scattering millions in Federal Reserve strong boxes. Will this gold do us any good? It may some day.

We may be able to buy the allegiance of South and Central America. These countries which have an envious dislike of the Colossus of the North, may be persuaded by gold. German domination would mean their exploitation and the disappearance of black and tan politicians in the so-called republics of Latin America, but we gather from press dispatches that these Latins are playing a sly game nevertheless, to see just how much coin Uncle Sam will pungle up to keep them from selling out to Gemany. So far as dictatorships are concerned, the South Americans know all out about them from long experience, and apparently like them. The only trouble with a German dictatorship, so far as they are concerned, is that every man jack south of the equator would have to go to work. No more afternoon siestas, and no more of that manana philosophy of life. Mr. Hitler craves action and lots of it.

What German domination of South America would mean to us, however, is very different. We would need, provided we did not resist by force of arms German economic or political — and with Germany the words are practically synonymous — sovereignty, to be armed to the teeth to prevent U. S. invasion. For we have come to the reluctant conclusion that Hitler now regards himself as a new Messiah, whose mission is to establish fascism throughout the world. The United States, to his artistic imperial eye, is just another vineyard waiting for harvest. Perhaps, some of those Fort Knoz tons of gold can be judiciously expended in South America. Politicians there are accustomed to being bribed to be good.

Mexico, owing largely to the philosophy of government fostered there by our own President Roosevelt and by John L. Lewis, is a peculairly fertile seed bed for fascist planting. The workers there having enjoyed a certain measure of communistic government are plainly dissatisfied and are looking for more money and even less work. They are now ripe to swing to a fascist experiment, and Germany with its embassy in Mexico City, staffed with 200 experts in international skulduggery, is sowing the field. Some of the Fort-Knox gold might be used profitably in Mexico, since our conscience objects to squelching neighborly nuisances by force of arms.

The Mexicans certainly enjoy their elections. Blood letting along with balloting is a good old Mexican custom. The pistolaros correspond roughly with our own plug uglies hired by political chieftains in our large cities to falsify ballot results. However, we continue to count ballots, while the Mexicans count both bullets and ballots. The result of the Mexican election last Sunday, press dispatches state, will be known in September.

We doubt whether Japan can be hired to be a decent neighbor in the Pacific. The truculence of the army and navy dictators whetted to a keen edge by bloody butchering in China, which so far have yielded the Japanese people nothing but near starvation, is probably not to be balked by gold loans. Some day, and maybe very soon, Uncle Sam will be reluctantly compelled to blockade the Japanese Islands. When that happens we shall hear a new sing-song from army, navy and sacred emperor. If there is one cocky nation on earth, that is more vulnerable than Japan, we have not heard of it.

In any event we have at least three fourths of the world's gold and it does seem as though the possession of it should profit us in domestic affairs or foreign relations. Belatedly we are beginning to arm. The President has asked for an army of 2,000,000 men, an air armada of 50,000 planes, and a navy nearly twice as large as the one we now have. It is just possible that we shall need these greatly augmented services to defend Fort Knox. A hive well filled with honey tempts the bears.

DIAMOND MATCH MOVING TO SITE ON HIGHWAY

The Diamond Match Company has purchased the O'Neill property adjoining the highway maintenance headquarters on the Grass Valley-Nevada City Highway.

The work of moving lumber and supplies from the Spring Street yard to the new location is now underway and is expected to be completed by August first.

Bert Foreman, manager of the Nevada City branch of the Diamond Match, stated temporary buildings are being erected on the O'Neill property inside the city limits. Permanent buidings, including a large store and warehouse, will be constructed when a definite decision is reached on the rerouting of the state state highway. One proposal is for the highway to cut through the O'Neill property to the lower Grass Valley Road.

Foreman has 18 men employed in constructing temporary warehouses and an office on the property.

COUNTY HAS NEW RED CROSS NURSE

Miss Elise Puesch, Red Cross nurse for Nevada County during the past two years, has resgined to take up post graduate studies in administrative Red Cross work at the University of California.

Miss Puesch will be succeeded in Nevada County by Miss Frances Clink of Crescent City. Miss Clink will take over the position on August first.

The establishing of a Red Cross nurse in this vicinity was made possible by the Grass Valley Memorial Hospital Association. The service is free to those unable to pay. In Nevada City contact of the nurse can be made through the city hall.

Miss Puesch before entering University of California classes will take an Alaskan cruise.

OLSON CREATES ANOTHER JOB

Only a few days after State Treasurer Charles G. (Gus) Johnson had revealed that Governor Olson appointees had put over a deal to create a salaried position out of the former non-paying post of secretary to the state mining board, Johnson this week found himself supplanted as a member of that board.

Governor Olson announced that James E. Babcock, Los Angeles mining engineer, had been named to the board in place of Johnson, whose term expired. A short time ago, Errol MacBoyle of the Idaho-Maryland Mines in Grass Valley, was replaced by an Olson appointee.

At a recent meeting of the Olson-dominated board a resolution was passed indicating that Bruce McDonald would be named secretary to the board, at a salary to be determined.

This brought about the following statement from Johnson, who for years has been interested in mining in Sierra and Nevada Counties.

"The board hasn't had a paid secretary in years and it seemed to get along all right. All these Olson appointees seemed to be interested in at their first meeting was how much they would get for traveling expenses, what their per diem was, and how they could give McDonald a job."

FOUR ACRES BURN

A crew of Tahoe National Forest Service fire fighters controlled a blaze, believed to have been started from a cigarette, near the German Bar mine in the Graniteville district on Tuesday.

Approximately four acres of brush and small growth timberland was burned over. The fire was handled by crews from the Bloomfield and the Camptonville ranger districts.

Returns from San Francisco—
Frank Crampton returned to his home here Monday night from a business trip to San Francisco.

JERRY SEAWELL SOON TO RETURN FROM TRIP

A note from Senator Jerrold Seawell, dated July 6th, New York, reports that he and Mrs. Seawell are having a fine trip. He reports that the Republican convention, which he attended as one of the California delegates was a liberal education especially to a "first timer." The Seawells left New York last Saturday and are returning home by way of Canada.

MARKING DONNER TRAIL EAST TO PROSSER CREEK

Another stretch of the tragic trail of the Donner party will be blazed with markers which will stand as monuments to those pioneers who participated in the most disastrous of all Argonaut migrations.

It is reported from Truckee P. M. Waddell, San Jose student of early California history, will establish a base there while locating and marking the Donner Trail from Truckee east to Prosser Creek. This part of the trail never has been blazed.

Waddell became interested in the history of the Donner party in 1924 That summer he started reestablishing the trail. During the succeeding years he blazed and marked 15 miles from Alder Creek Valley, site of the Donner family camp, to the summmit of the Sierras.

Forty two of the 85 starting the journey by oxen to California perished in deserts and mountains in the winter of 1946-47.

BASEBALL DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

A busy weekend is in store for the Nevada City Baseball Club members and fans.

After holding a benefit dance at Lake Olympia Saturday night, the ball team will go to Auburn Sunday for a Foothill League contest with the Auburn nine.

The dance at Olympia Saturday night is expected to attract a large crowd. Manager Bill Clark of the baseball squad said he was forced to select Olympia as the site for the dance because no hall was available in Nevada City. Foote's ten piece orchestra will play for the dance.

A large delegation of fans will accompany the ball team to Auburn for the Sunday game. Manager Clark will start Alex McKenzie on the mound with Mel Stinson behind the plate. Jim Youngman will play first base; Jack Bloomquist, second; Richie Biggs third and Dib Williams, shortstop. In the outfield will be Dick Keene, leftfield; Herb Costa, centefield and Herb Gibson, rightfield.

ASSESSED VALUE OF COUNTY GAINS HALF MILLION

The Nevada County Board of Supervisors will meet Monday as a board of equalization to hear complaints, if any, against tax assessments.

County Assessor John M. Hammill reports the assessed valuation of property in Nevada County, not including public utilities, is $9,754,590, an increase of $515,890 over last year's total of $2,238,700.

The public ultility assessment roll is tentatively set at $7,932,490, which added to the regular county roll gives the county an assessment valuation of $17,678,080. Last year it was $16,997,650.

The total assessed valuation of property inside the municipalities of Nevada City and Grass Valley is $3,495,820 while outside the municipalities the valuation is $6,644,340, indicating the mines in the county are responsible for the payment of the majority of taxes.

REPAIRING DAMAGE

Work on repairing the damage done by fire to the Morgan and Powell Building on Broad Street is underway.

Frank Ghidotti, manager of the Cardinal Grocery Store, which was damaged considerably by the fire, is taking his vacation while the repairs and remodeling is being done.

CURIOUS AUTO DRIVERS HAMPER CITY FIREMEN

The fire on Piety Hill on Monday afternoon had repercussions at last night's meeting of the city council.

The council members expressed themselves in favor of an ordinance similar to one in Grass Valley, which prohibits motor vehicles within 300 feet of a fire.

The expression of opinions were voiced because of the congestion and confusion caused by automobiles which got too close to the fire and interferred with the fire fighters and their equipment.

Several motorists were cited to appear before City Judge Miles D. Coughlin, who dismissed the cases after reprimanding the offenders severely.

COUNCILMEN ARE ASKED TO CLEAR PARK OF WEEDS

Councilman Robert Nye and Dr. John R. Ivey, who were named to handle the affairs of Pioneer Park after the park commission was abolished at last week's meeting of the city council, have a job on their hands all ready.

To them the council last night turned over requests by Robert Tamblyn and Frederick Garrison to "do something about the grass and the weeds" in the Pioneer Park grounds and ball feild.

Garrison said a child was injured Tuesday when he fell upon a broken bottle hidden among the dead weeds and high grass.

Tamblyn requested the clearing of grass from the ball diamond for the start of soft ball and hard ball play under the sponsorship of the city recreation program.

MUNSON CHURCHS REACH 50 YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Munson B. Church, sheepgrowers of the Spenceville district of Nevada County for more than 40 years, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday.

Two hundred friends and relatives from Yuba, Nevada, Butte and Placer Counties gathered at the Buckeye ranch home of the couple in honor of the occasion. A reception was held in the mammoth garden at the ranch.

The five children of the couple, Mrs. Henry P. Everett, of Oroville, Mrs. Harry E. Lloyd of San Francisco, Mrs. Velma C. Clark of Berkeley and Munson Warner Church and Chandler Church of the Spencevilie district were present.

The Churchs are known throughout the state in stockraising circles. They received telegrams of congratulations from scores of friends, one message coming from New York City and another from Boston.

The Churchs were married in Sweetland, near French Corral, in 1890 by Rev. Joseph Compton. The bride was the former Kate Brown.

The Buckeye Ranch on wrich the Churchs now live was homesteaded by Chandler Church, grandfather of the present owner. Church's two sons and several grandsons reside at the huge ranch, making five generations to have lived on the property.

Church's father, Munson Warner Church, at one time drove a freight wagon from Sacramento to Virginia City, when the latter city was at the height of its glory.

Church was formerly active in organizations which seek the betterment of conditions for the farmers in the Nevada, Placer and Yuba County area. He was one of the original directors of the Nevada Irrigation District and a former director of the Nevada County Farm Bureau.

Weekend Guests—
Mr. and Mrs. Orrin McKinney of San Leandro were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Treglown over the weekend. On the Fourth the Treglowns were hosts to Mrs. Sophie Nickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Nickerson and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nickerson, all of Sacramento.

NEVADA COUNTY CREW HELPS CONTROL FIRE

A 12 man crew from the state division of forestry office near here was sent to Yuba County to help control a fire which started Tuesday in the Yuba River Canyon above the Narrows Dam.

The origin of the fire has not been determined, although it is believed it may have possibly been started by a prospector. The fire burned over approximately 100 acres of grass and brush.

HUSBAND, VICTIM WITH WIFE, DIES OF AUTO INJURY

Just a few hours after his wife was buried, Archie R. Pitts, 58, pumpman at the North Star Mine in Grass Valley, died in the Miners Hospital here at 9 o'clock last night from injuries suffered in an automobile collision near Auburn Saturday night. Pitts' wife, Blanche was killed instantly.

Pitts died without learning of his wife's death. His injuries, which included a crushed chest and fractured skull, were so critical little hope had been held for his recovery.

Coroner A. M. Holmes said an inquest will be held soon.

The accident in which Mrs. Pitts was killed and her husband fatally injured happened several miles west of Auburn while the couple and their granddaughter, Miriam Collins, 4, were returning to Grass Valley following a two weeks vacation. The Pitts machine collided head on with a truck being driven by C. C. Neville of Lincoln, who was returning to his home from a fishing trip.

Pitts had resided in Grass Valley for more than 30 years. He was a member of the Nevada County Mine Workers Protective League, United Spanish War Veterans and Nevada County Foresters.

The deceased leaves two children, Mrs. Evelyn Collins and Robert Pitts, both of Grass Valley and three grandchildren, Miriam Collins, Jean Collins and Robert Pitts, Jr., all of Grass Valley.

The funeral services are being arranged by the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary, Inc., which conducted the funeral for Mrs. Pitts yesterday afternoon.

FIRE PROTECTION IN NEV. COUNTY IS INCREASED

The state division of forestry is constructing a new fire camp in the Wolf district of Nevada County and another will be built soon at North Columbia.

The two new camps, in addition to the one at Shady Creek and the one near Nevada City, will give Nevada County the best fire protection she has ever had.

The Wolf district camp, which will be located near Higgins Corners, will be maintained by a seven man crew. A new fire truck will be stationed there. At North Columbia there will be a three man crew and a new truck.

The Wolf camp will be ready in about two weeks. A telephone line is being constructed into the campsite at the present time.

William Sharpe, Nevada County state fire warden, was authorized to select men from Grass Valley and Nevada City to maintain the two new camps. The men have already been chosen.

MINE WORKERS PLAN PICNIC

A Nevada County Mine Workers Protective League committee, headed by William J. Bennetts, is making arrangements for the independent labor union's annual picnic, which will be held in August at Lake Olympia.

The picnic will be a benefit for the widows and orphans fund of the league's. All the mines in the district which recognize the league as bargaining agency will be shut down on the picnic day.

Ed Jones is secretary of the picnic committee. Fred Carter is treasurer.

GRAND JURY MAY BE CALLED INTO JERRY WEAR CASE

While District Attorney Vernon Stoll is debating what action he will take against Robert Wear, 56, held in the county jail here on suspicion of fratricide, Coroner A. M. Holmes today continued with plans to hold an inquest into the death of Jerry Wear, 62, who died in the Nevada County Hospital of a fractured skull on June 29.

A possibility the grand jury may be called to investigate the circumstances surrounding Wear's death was seen today At the present time Robert Wear is being held in jail for investigation in the death of his brother. His apprehension followed a story by a woman, whose name is being withheld, that Robert hit his brother on the head with a jug during an argument.

Jerry died in the county hospital 14 days after he was taken there for treatment. Hospital attendants believed he was suffering from meningitis, caused by acute alcoholism.

The unidentified woman's story was told after Wear died. The body was exhumed by Coroner Holmes and an autopsy by Dr. Harry Benteen revealed death was due to a fractured skull.

Robert claims his brother suffered the skull fracture in a fall against a tree.

The coroner's inquisition is expected to be held the latter part of this week or early next week.

MAX SOLARO IS NEW CHIEF OF CITY POLICE

Max Solaro, city fireman, was selected last night by the city council to succeed W. G. Robson as chief of police of Nevada City.

Solaro will handle the chief job in addition to the fire department post but another policeman will be selected to assist in the police work.

The new police officer will be selected by Chief Solaro, subject to approval by the council.

The city council members believe the new arrangement will work out satisfactorily. At any time Solaro is away from the city hall he will instruct one of the police officers to remain at the firehouse to take out the truck in the event of fire.

The council turned over the task of making out the city business licenses, which had been handled by Chief Robson, to Sammy Hooper, water collector. The collection of the license fees will be done by the police officers, however.

Solaro will receive a salary of $150 per month and in addition will remain in the living quarters provided for the fireman and his wife upstairs in the city hall.

It is probable Solao will take over his new duties immediately. The new appointee said he has talked informally to most of the fire delegates regarding the new arrangement and they expressed themselves as satisfied. The delegates will take up the matter formally, however, when they meet on the last Thursday of this month.

The Schools Show The Way

In the heaviest spending decade in the history of this state or any state, California's schools have compiled a record for economy that stands out in black ink against the red-ink sea of lavish governmental spending. Completing an exhaustive study of school costs from 1929, the California Teachers' Association reported this week through Roy W. Cloud, executive secretary:

Costs per high school student: 1929, $238.01; 1939, $203.06. Per junior college student: 1929, $286.69; 1939, $218.73. Only in per-pupil costs of elementary schools was there a minor rise— from $118.06 in 1929 to $122.87 in 1939—due largely to the minimum salary law for teachers, which sets the lowest yearly salary at $1320.

"These figures," Cloud stated, "reveal how carefully California administrator's trustees, teachers and school people generally have worked hand in hand to keep costs at a minimum without impairing efficiency." In the minds of California taxpayers, however, those figures will go far beyond their direct application to the school system. If our schools, the nation's finest, have been able to "keep costs at a minimum without impairing efficiency," with enrollment constantly rising, what plausible reason may be advanced by bureaucratic spenders for having found it "necessary" to double and then triple the state's tax bills for other departments, piling on new levies and new deficits by hundreds of millions?

The schools have set an example of economy sorely needed in these days when every taxpayer prepares to give till it hurts toward national defense. However hard the pinch on his purse, no patriotic citizen favors stinting the education of children, nor stinting the urgently needed rearmament. Yet taxpayers are in no mood to countenance further waste of public money on non-essentials. Economy will be observed—or enforced. And economy can be observed. The schools have shown the way—Contributed.

Where Honor Is Due

When the San Francisco-Oakland bridge opened, the fare was 65 cents. A year later, the motorists paid 50 cents. This week, with the last of a series of reductions in effect, the toll per car is but 25 cents! Each of those cuts has resulted both in increased public use of a major California highway link and in increased bridge receipts. The logic of public benefit through cheaper tolls seems so plain that one may wonder why it was ever seriously disputed.

Yet that logic was disputed—most vehemently—when George J. Hatfield, father of the movement to lower the high toll barrier, began the fight. As lieutenant-governor and a member of the State Toll Bridge Authority, not only did he attack high bay bridge tolls as an imposition on motorists and a bottle-neck to traffic, but he introduced the original bill to acquire the Carquinez Bridge as public property, to retire its cost quickly, and lower the tolls to the public. His contention —condemned by some politicos as impracticable then—was that minimum tolls would step up traffic, swell bridge income and benefit the whole state. Probably the satisfaction of having been right in his long struggle to lower traffic barriers in his native state is ample reward to George Hatfield, over on his San Joaquin Valley ranch. But millions of California motorists and businessmen who recall his unremitting efforts will gratefully accord him the honor that is his due.—Contributed.

Let's Keep It Clean

The denuciation brought upon his own head by Senator Norris of Nebraska, when he called Wendell Wilkie a "second Insull," was voiced as indignantly by fair-minded Democrats as by members of the party Mr. Wilkie heads. And that national indignation at an attempt at indefensible canard is conclusive smear tactics in the most critical presidential campaign year since 1860.

The life story of Wendell Willkie is so typical of the best in American initiative, pluck and straight-shooting that it electrified the public and brushed machine politics aside in his amazing sweep to Republican nomination. He worked his way through school. He went to the front as a fighting soldier in 1918. At 48, his ability as a businessman and in integrity had carried him to the presidency of one of the most important utility firms in America. He speaks so candidly and unreservedly on all issues that old-school politicians are dumbfounded and the man in the street is delighted. To link the name of such a man with that of Insull, which connotes in the public mind unsavory and shady dealing, is an act so unfair and so baseless that it must excite the contempt of every decent citizen.

The arena of American politics is a trench-scarred arena of roaring battle, and the shells of oratortical artillery are filled with high-explosive words. Yet there's a vast difference between hitting an antagonist a fair blow—and fouling him with a knife-thrust in the back. The public expects, demands and is entitled to a fair campaign on both sides; a campaign conducted on the platfor mof open debate on the issues, and not in the gutter of mud slinging. Let's have a vigorous campaign with no punches pulled. But let's keep it clean!—Contributed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder how a compromise
Can clear a cluttered road,
And how co-operation tends
To ease a heavy load;
But there's a third ingredient
Which we must keep in mind,
If we would live constructively
Among our human kind.

I wonder what the status of world affairs would be if Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini were the three wise men of modern times instead of what they really are.

Perhaps we may permit ourselves a modicum of pity for these three mad men of Europe, who, having the ability to grasp and hold great power, yet lack the intelligence to use it wisely and well.

We cannot blame them for desiring the growth and prosperity of their respective nations, but all the benefits of expansion, both territorial and trade, might have been won by compromise, co-operation and contributions to the peace and happiness of neighboring states. Instead of these desirable agencies, they chose the weapons of ignorance, intolerance and force—weapons which will inevitably lead them into conflict with each other and prove their ultimate undoing.

These pitiful creatures of a day, might have won for themselves and their nations, the admiration and respect of the entire world; they chose, to endure the hatred and contempt of all liberty loving people—to write ignominious pages into the annals of world history and to leave behind them, in due course of time, names that shall remain anathema during all the years that are to be.

I wonder if those of us who are proudly repeating the words, "I am an American," and finding in them a fresh and poignant meaning, will be able to remain calm, cool and collected during the hectic days of the forthcoming presidential campaign.

If we can neither compromise our political differences, nor co-operate with our worthy opponents, we may at least contribute our individual portion of composure to the maintaining of national sanity and solidarity.

After all, the two great parties are simply outriggers upon the ship of state and both are composed of the same material, sturdy American citizeship.

Neither party has a corner upon patriotism and at this particular time, the members of both may advance the status of national preparedness by exhibiting a spirit of fairness, good will and sportsmanship, even when his own standard bearer goes down to defeat.

'TYPHOON' OPENS HERE SUNDAY

Torrential rains and the awe-inspiring terror of a tropical hurricane save Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston and Lynne Overman from cremation on a burning island, and provide the thrilling climax to Paramount's new Technicolor South Sea romance "Typhoon" which opens Sunday at the Nevada Theatre.

Dorothy Lamour, most popular "native" girl in the world, doesn't appear in her much-sung sarong. This time it's a lava-lava, which must be Polynesian for "retrenchment" because this bright cloth is scantier than ever!

The hurricane sequence provides the most thrilling nature spectacle ever to be filmed. Rain lashes down like blasted mercury; whole palm trees are uprooted by the maddened wind, and the tidal waves top crosts of fifty feet!

Hand in hand with the technical perfection of the storm, and of the surging Technicolor is the romance-filled plot. Dorothy, bronzed and alluring, lives with Koko, her trained champanzee companion on an uninhabited South Sea island, far from normal sea lanes.

Teacher—"Can any of you tell me what makes the Tower of Pisa lean?"

Fat Girl—"If I knew I would take some myself."

Father (to daughter) —"I'm afraid that young man of yours is living beyond his means."

Daughter — "Oh, no, papa! He hasn't any."

FIREMEN ARE INJURED IN FIRE ON PIETY HILL

For the second time within a month Nevada City volunteer firemen were overcome by smoke in fighting fire.

Fire Chief Herbert Hallett and Elza Kilroy are recovering from the effects of smoke received in fighting a brush fire which started Monday afternoon on the Vivian property on Piety Hill.

Kilroy was rushed to the Nevada City Sanatarium. Chief Hallett, who with two others was seriously effected by smoke and gas while fighting the Morgan and Powell Building blaze recently, was forced to his home and bed when he nearly collapsed from the smoke and exhaustion.

The fire was said to have started while Miss Leah Vivian was burning rubbish. It quickly spread, burning the barn on the Vivian property and two old buggies. Approximately three acres of grass, brush and timber were burned over before the blaze was controlled. The combined efforts of the Nevada City Fire Department, and the state division of forestry fire fighting crews saved many homes from burning. Homes on both sides of Deer Creek were endangered.

Police Officer Lionel Davies had a narrow escape from serious injury when several dynamite caps were exploded by the heat and flames. A fragment of steel struck Davies in an arm and another hit him above the eye.

THREE CHAMBERS SEEK HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

Representatives of the Nevada City, Grass Valley and Auburn Chambers of Commerce held a meeting in Auburn Tuesday to discuss plans to secure appropriations for additional improvement to the highway from Nevada City to Auburn.

Superior Judge George L. Jones, H. F. (Si) Sofge, secretary of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce and Robert Nye, city councilman, attended from Nevada City. Miss Edith Scott, secretary of the Grass Valley chamber, Dan Stewart and Del Powell represented Grass Valley.

The chambers will endeavor to interest the Nevada and Placer County Boards of Supervisors, the city councils in the three cities and various other civic organizations in support of the project.

A resolutions committee was selected at the meeting to draw up resolutions for presentation and adoption at the next meetings of the chambers in the three cities.

Proponents of the highway improvement scheme are desirous of a four lane highway between Nevada City and Grass Valley and the improvement of the road all the way from Grass Valley into Auburn, a distance of 24 miles.

Every patented invention that has been made in this country has stimulated countless numbers of other persons to create still other new things.

This Is A Good Time To Build

What will the European War do to building?

With the tremendous forces of destruction now unleashed over there and the impact of events on the stock market and the nerves of the people over here, it is only natural that many people, should ask themselves, "Is this a good time to build?"

In our opinion this is the best of all times to build. It is the best of all times to put earnings and savings into a permanent, tangible, concrete investment whose intrisic value to the investor will not be affected by any storms of war.

A HOME is such an investment.

Stocks depreciate, bonds are defaulted, money itself may become valueless but so long as a HOME stands it is shelter, it is security, it is stability for a MAN and HIS FAMILY.

What else can we buy as a hedge against uncertainty? Where else can you put your money and be safe?

Suppose inflation should come, as it does so often in the wake of a great war? Your dollars will be worthless, you will pay more of them for food, for clothing and for rent, but if you have bought a home your dollar payments will not change. You've bought security.

Suppose this country goes to war after all. What about the soldier who is paying on a HOME? This is a possibility, of course. But, is it too radical to suggest that it might be most unpopular for F. H. A. to permit foreclosure on the very home which that soldier is fighting to protect?

In the trying times ahead, the more famliies that own their homes, the better off our country will be. We must never forget that our freedom was created by forefathers who lived in homes that they owned, homes that they built in many cases with their own hands.

Scan the history of this country, look about you now. Can there be any doubt that those who have stood and are standing, their ground against forces that are dangerous to our freedom are those who have planted their roots somewhere, who have a place THEY CALL HOME?—Building Supply News.

The Schools Show The Way

In the heaviest spending decade in the history of this state or any state, California's schools have compiled a record for economy that stands out in black ink against the red-ink sea of lavish governmental spending. Completing an exhaustive study of school costs from 1929, the California Teachers' Association reported this week through Roy W. Cloud, executive secretary:

Costs per high school student: 1929, $238.01; 1939, $203.06. Per junior college student: 1929, $286.69; 1939, $218.73. Only in per-pupil costs of elementary schools was there a minor rise— from $118.06 in 1929 to $122.87 in 1939—due largely to the minimum salary law for teachers, which sets the lowest yearly salary at $1320.

"These figures," Cloud stated, "reveal how carefully California administrator's trustees, teachers and school people generally have worked hand in hand to keep costs at a minimum without impairing efficiency." In the minds of California taxpayers, however, those figures will go far beyond their direct application to the school system. If our schools, the nation's finest, have been able to "keep costs at a minimum without impairing efficiency," with enrollment constantly rising, what plausible reason may be advanced by bureaucratic spenders for having found it "necessary" to double and then triple the state's tax bills for other departments, piling on new levies and new deficits by hundreds of millions?

The schools have set an example of economy sorely needed in these days when every taxpayer prepares to give till it hurts toward national defense. However hard the pinch on his purse, no patriotic citizen favors stinting the education of children, nor stinting the urgently needed rearmament. Yet taxpayers are in no mood to countenance further waste of public money on non-essentials. Economy will be observed—or enforced. And economy can be observed. The schools have shown the way—Contributed.

Where Honor Is Due

When the San Francisco-Oakland bridge opened, the fare was 65 cents. A year later, the motorists paid 50 cents. This week, with the last of a series of reductions in effect, the toll per car is but 25 cents! Each of those cuts has resulted both in increased public use of a major California highway link and in increased bridge receipts. The logic of public benefit through cheaper tolls seems so plain that one may wonder why it was ever seriously disputed.

Yet that logic was disputed—most vehemently—when George J. Hatfield, father of the movement to lower the high toll barrier, began the fight. As lieutenant-governor and a member of the State Toll Bridge Authority, not only did he attack high bay bridge tolls as an imposition on motorists and a bottle-neck to traffic, but he introduced the original bill to acquire the Carquinez Bridge as public property, to retire its cost quickly, and lower the tolls to the public. His contention —condemned by some politicos as impracticable then—was that minimum tolls would step up traffic, swell bridge income, and benefit the whole state. Probably the satisfaction of having been right in his long struggle to lower traffic barriers in his native state is ample reward to George Hatfield, over on his San Joaquin Valley ranch. But millions of California motorists and businessmen who recall his unremitting efforts will gratefully accord him the honor that is his due.—Contributed.

Let's Keep It Clean

The denuciation brought upon his own head by Senator Norris of Nebraska, when he called Wendell Wilkie a "second Insull," was voiced as indignantly by fair-minded Democrats as by members of the party Mr. Wilkie heads. And that national indignation at an attempt at indefensible canard is conclusive smear tactics in the most critical presidential campaign year since 1860.

The life story of Wendell Willkie is so typical of the best in American initiative, pluck and straight-shooting that it electrified the public and brushed machine politics aside in his amazing sweep to Republican nomination. He worked his way through school. He went to the front as a fighting soldier in 1918. At 48, his ability as a businessman and in integrity had carried him to the presidency of one of the most important utility firms in America. He speaks so candidly and unreservedly on all issues that old-school politicians are dumbfounded and the man in the street is delighted. To link the name of such a man with that of Insull, which connotes in the public mind unsavory and shady dealing, is an act so unfair and so baseless that it must excite the contempt of every decent citizen.

The arena of American politics is a trench-scarred arena of roaring battle, and the shells of oratortical artillery are filled with high-explosive words. Yet there's a vast difference between hitting an antagonist a fair blow—and fouling him with a knife-thrust in the back. The public expects, demands and is entitled to a fair campaign on both sides; a campaign conducted on the platfor mof open debate on the issues, and not in the gutter of mud slinging. Let's have a vigorous campaign with no punches pulled. But let's keep it clean!—Contributed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder how a compromise
Can clear a cluttered road,
And how co-operation tends
To ease a heavy load;
But there's a third ingredient
Which we must keep in mind,
If we would live constructively
Among our human kind.

I wonder what the status of world affairs would be if Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini were the three wise men of modern times instead of what they really are.

Perhaps we may permit ourselves a modicum of pity for these three mad men of Europe, who, having the ability to grasp and hold great power, yet lack the intelligence to use it wisely and well.

We cannot blame them for desiring the growth and prosperity of their respective nations, but all the benefits of expansion, both territorial and trade, might have been won by compromise, co-operation and contributions to the peace and happiness of neighboring states. Instead of these desirable agencies, they chose the weapons of ignorance, intolerance and force—weapons which will inevitably lead them into conflict with each other and prove their ultimate undoing.

These pitiful creatures of a day, might have won for themselves and their nations, the admiration and respect of the entire world; they chose, to endure the hatred and contempt of all liberty loving people—to write ignominious pages into the annals of world history and to leave behind them, in due course of time, names that shall remain anathema during all the years that are to be.

I wonder if those of us who are proudly repeating the words, "I am an American," and finding in them a fresh and poignant meaning, will be able to remain calm, cool and collected during the hectic days of the forthcoming presidential campaign.

If we can neither compromise our political differences, nor co-operate with our worthy opponents, we may at least contribute our individual portion of composure to the maintaining of national sanity and solidarity.

After all, the two great parties are simply outriggers upon the ship of state and both are composed of the same material, sturdy American citizeship.

Neither party has a corner upon patriotism and at this particular time, the members of both may advance the status of national preparedness by exhibiting a spirit of fairness, good will and sportsmanship, even when his own standard bearer goes down to defeat.

Uncle Silas says: "My, oh my! Every time I begin to think that Ham and Egg ghost is laid, it jumps right up before me and clicks its heels before landing. It's rather ghastly, don't you think?" —A. MERRIAM CONNER.

'TYPHOON' OPENS HERE SUNDAY

Torrential rains and the awe-inspiring terror of a tropical hurricane save Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston and Lynne Overman from cremation on a burning island, and provide the thrilling climax to Paramount's new Technicolor South Sea romance "Typhoon" which opens Sunday at the Nevada Theatre.

Dorothy Lamour, most popular "native" girl in the world, doesn't appear in her much-sung sarong. This time it's a lava-lava, which must be Polynesian for "retrenchment" because this bright cloth is scantier than ever!

The hurricane sequence provides the most thrilling nature spectacle ever to be filmed. Rain lashes down like blasted mercury; whole palm trees are uprooted by the maddened wind, and the tidal waves top crosts of fifty feet!

Hand in hand with the technical perfection of the storm, and of the surging Technicolor is the romance-filled plot. Dorothy, bronzed and alluring, lives with Koko, her trained champanzee companion on an uninhabited South Sea island, far from normal sea lanes.

Teacher—"Can any of you tell me what makes the Tower of Pisa lean?"

Fat Girl—"If I knew I would take some myself."

Father (to daughter) —"I'm afraid that young man of yours is living beyond his means."

Daughter — "Oh, no, papa! He hasn't any."

FIREMEN ARE INJURED IN FIRE ON PIETY HILL

For the second time within a month Nevada City volunteer firemen were overcome by smoke in fighting fire.

Fire Chief Herbert Hallett and Elza Kilroy are recovering from the effects of smoke received in fighting a brush fire which started Monday afternoon on the Vivian property on Piety Hill.

Kilroy was rushed to the Nevada City Sanatarium. Chief Hallett, who with two others was seriously effected by smoke and gas while fighting the Morgan and Powell Building blaze recently, was forced to his home and bed when he nearly collapsed from the smoke and exhaustion.

The fire was said to have started while Miss Leah Vivian was burning rubbish. It quickly spread, burning the barn on the Vivian property and two old buggies. Approximately three acres of grass, brush and timber were burned over before the blaze was controlled. The combined efforts of the Nevada City Fire Department, and the state division of forestry fire fighting crews saved many homes from burning. Homes on both sides of Deer Creek were endangered.

Police Officer Lionel Davies had a narrow escape from serious injury when several dynamite caps were exploded by the heat and flames. A fragment of steel struck Davies in an arm and another hit him above the eye.

THREE CHAMBERS SEEK HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

Representatives of the Nevada City, Grass Valley and Auburn Chambers of Commerce held a meeting in Auburn Tuesday to discuss plans to secure appropriations for additional improvement to the highway from Nevada City to Auburn.

Superior Judge George L. Jones, H. F. (Si) Sofge, secretary of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce and Robert Nye, city councilman, attended from Nevada City. Miss Edith Scott, secretary of the Grass Valley chamber, Dan Stewart and Del Powell represented Grass Valley.

The chambers will endeavor to interest the Nevada and Placer County Boards of Supervisors, the city councils in the three cities and various other civic organizations in support of the project.

A resolutions committee was selected at the meeting to draw up resolutions for presentation and adoption at the next meetings of the chambers in the three cities.

Proponents of the highway improvement scheme are desirous of a four lane highway between Nevada City and Grass Valley and the improvement of the road all the way from Grass Valley into Auburn, a distance of 24 miles.

Every patented invention that has been made in this country has stimulated countless numbers of other persons to create still other new things.

This Is A Good Time To Build

What will the European War do to building?

With the tremendous forces of destruction now unleashed over there and the impact of events on the stock market and the nerves of the people over here, it is only natural that many people should ask themselves, "Is this a good time to build?"

In our opinion this is the best of all times to build. It is the best of all times to put earnings and savings into a permanent, tangible, concrete investment whose intrisic value to the investor will not be affected by any storms of war.

A HOME is such an investment.

Stocks depreciate, bonds are defaulted, money itself may become valueless but so long as a HOME stands it is shelter, it is security, it is stability for a MAN and HIS FAMILY.

What else can we buy as a hedge against uncertainty? Where else can you put your money and be safe?

Suppose inflation should come, as it does so often in the wake of a great war? Your dollars will be worthless, you will pay more of them for food, for clothing and for rent, but if you have bought a home your dollar payments will not change. You've bought security.

Suppose this country goes to war after all. What about the soldier who is paying on a HOME? This is a possibility, of course. But, is it too radical to suggest that it might be most unpopular for F. H. A. to permit foreclosure on the very home which that soldier is fighting to protect?

In the trying times ahead, the more famlies that own their homes, the better off our country will be. We must never forget that our freedom was created by forefathers who lived in homes that they owned, homes that they built in many cases with their own hands.

Scan the history of this country, look about you now. Can there be any doubt that those who have stood and are standing, their ground against forces that are dangerous to our freedom are those who have planted their roots somewhere, who have a place THEY CALL HOME?—Building Supply News.

"THE ONLY REAL SECURITY — A HOME OF YOUR OWN."

The American consul in Amsterdam notified Secretary of State Hull that "all is well" with Mrs. van Hall and the information was forwarded here to Davis, who is an acquaintance of Hull. The secretary of state has taken a personal interest in locating Mr. and Mrs. Davis' relations.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have been anxious about the safety of their daughter for many weeks. Last week Mrs. Davis received word her mother was safe but so far nothing has been learned of the whereabouts of Mrs. Davis' brother, who was manager of a Narvik railroad.

LABOR CZARS ASK PARDON FOR 3 MURDERERS

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Rank and file members of organized labor undoubtedly have just as high regard for law and order as any other class of citizens.

Certainly, they don't feel that carrying a union card makes them "above the law," any more than a farmer, who has joined the Farm Bureau, feels that he has just won the right to commit grand larceny.

Among many of the professional labor leaders, who have risen to power by extra-legal methods — with goon squads and body guards to enforce their mandates—there is quite a different attitude, however.

To many of these high handed labor czars, accustomed to getting away with all manner of excesses and offenses—on the ground that they are "fighting for labor"—extortion ceases to be extortion, when it is committed in the name of labor, and murder isn't murder, if the murderer wears a union button.

That may seem, at first glance, to be a harsh and unwarranted indictment But there is corroborative evidence on every hand to bear it out. And it is a state of mind which needs to be remedied, not only in the interest of law and order, but even more in the interest of labor itself.

Consider current cases. The head of a New York union, with a previous felony conviction against him, is arrested on a charge of extortion with the facts plainly indicating that he had preyed upon workers and employers alike. Immediately, he charges "labor persecution"—and other union leaders rush to his defense.

A Hollwood union head is brought to book on a conviction of pandering, and fellow union leaders appear before Governor Olson to plead for him and oppose his extradition.

And in Illinois, a union leader, convicted and sent to prison, is permitted to direct the affairs of the union from his cell in the state penitentiary.

But of more direct interest to Califronia, there is now a determined effort under way here to stampede labor men into petitioning for the pardon or parole of Earl King, E. G. Ramsey and Frank J. O'Connor, three former officials of the Marine Firemen's Union, who are serving 20 year terms for the murder of George Alberts, chief engineer of the freighter Point Lobos.

NEVADA CITY COUPLE GLAD TO REACH NEW YORK

"It feels pretty wonderful to be in America once more after living in darkest Africa for so long and being delayed for four weeks trying to get a boat home."

That was the comment of Mr. and Mrs. William Lane of Nevada City when they arrived this week in New York after three years in Nababbet, South Africa.

Lane, a mining and construction engineer, was sent to Nababbet, by the Newmont Mining Corporation. He formerly was connected with the Murchie Mine here for the Newmont interests.

The Lanes are the parents of Dick Lane, Nevada City service station proprietor; Ethel McClish, Nevada City beauty parlor operator and Melba Crase of Nevada City and Elizabeth Hoskins and L. E. Lane of Grass Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane will remain in New York for several weeks visiting and shopping before returning to Nevada City.

The Lanes were stranded in South Africa for several weeks trying to obtain passage back to the United States. They finally were able to book passage aboard the American President Lines freighter President Hayes.

The Nevada City engineer told of how all passenger vessels had ceased to make stops at the Union of South Africa because of the war and how the President Hayes was scheduled to pick up cargo in Capetown. The state department ordered the ship to take on the Lanes and eight other Americans stranded there.

Commenting on conditions, Lane said people in that country feel that if Great Britain loses the war South Africa will become independent.

"The Nationalist Party, which is the proGerman faction, is very strong and they are talking of independence from England," he said.

The Nevada City man said there is still much mining going on in South Africa and business in general has not been effected by the war.

The trip from South Africa was the first made by the President Hayes via the Capetown route. Previously, before Italy entered the war, the ship took the Mediterranean route.

Children of the couple were notified by telegram of the safe arrival of their parents in New York. They are looking forward to again seeing their parents after an absence of three years.

PATROLMAN RICHARDS RETURNS TO HOME

Richards sustained a skull fracture when thrown from his motorcycle near Rough and Ready after it had hit a rock.

ELEPHANTS WALK DELIGHTS KIDDIES

Nevada City children were given an impromptu circus performance here Tuesday and it was all free.

The Hilderbrand Circus trucks passing through Nevada City enroute to Reno, could not ascend the York Street grade with the elephants.

So much to the delight of the kiddies, who gathered by the score when the news spread, the elephants were unloaded to allow the trucks to drive up the hill.

The unloading and loading of the animals took quite a while and it seemed every child in town had gathered round to see the elephants before the task was completed.
